

Abstract

The invention proposes a process for closing a container (2) by means of a closure which has a closure cap (37) and a sealing cap (7). The process is distinguished in that, during the operation of closing the container, the mouth region (1) of the container (2) is cleaned between the operations of fitting the sealing cap (7) and fitting the closure cap (37).

(Figure 4)